

Nelson Fritsch's website Macgamescout

Heute 02:49

Von: Sam Lloyd <lloyd.sam.m@gmail.com> ✓

An: vercingetorix@mail.de

Dear Mr. Eggers,

I was searching for information on my old contact Nelson and found your beautiful in memoriam website (nelsonfritsch.shootingwolf.de). I was so sad to hear of his passing and I am so sorry for your loss; from all you have collected on the site, the love you had for him is clear and undeniable.

Since I did not see it on your site, I wanted to share my own connection. Back in 2011 Nelson started two websites called "Macgamescout" and "Macappscout" dedicated to finding and sharing free games and applications for Mac computers. That was a real passion of mine at the time, so when I found out about his sites in April 2012 I emailed him with suggestions and an offer to write reviews. He thanked me and agreed, and with another reviewer helping out from time to time we built up the sites in the following 6 months to have over 500 posts! You can see a bit of what Macgamescout looked like here: <https://web.archive.org/web/20130404133141/http://macgamescout.org/>

Our work on the sites and our emails to each other tapered off as other parts of our lives began to take priority, and I don't think the sites were really updated after 2012 ended. But in some ways Nelson's willingness to accept my contributions helped along my own career in digital media; in October of that year I began writing Mac game and app reviews professionally!

If you would like to see any of our correspondence I am happy to share (though it is mostly just figuring out technical details of how to edit and manage the site). I wish you well, and thank you for bringing Nelson into the world.

Best regards,
Sam Lloyd